Personal Development Scoreboard

To develop your career you need to invest in educating yourself, and to do that you need focus.

This Excel-based template gives you the ability to identify specific training and development initiatives in key IT management categories that will help you target career skills needed for:

- Your current job title
- Your future job title
- Your overall professional development

Skill sets covered include project management, budgeting, strategic planning and leadership.

This tool from MDE Enterprises will help you quantify where you are on your career path.
